33 hreflang conflicts within page source code

33

About this issue:

If you're running a multilingual website, it is necessary to help users from other countries find your content in the language that is most appropriate for them. This is where the hreflang (rel="alternate" hreflang="x") attribute comes in handy. This attribute helps search engines understand which page should be shown to visitors based on their location. It is very important to properly synchronize your hreflang attributes within your page's source code, otherwise you may experience unexpected search engine behavior. For more information, see this article.

How to fix:

To avoid any conflicts, we recommend that you review your hreflang attributes within your page's source code and fix any of the following issues:

- Conflicting hreflang and rel=canonical URLs
- Conflicting hreflang URLs
- No self-referencing hreflang URLs

22 issues with incorrect hreflang links

22

About this issue:

A hreflang (rel="alternate" hreflang="x") attribute helps search engines understand which page should be shown to visitors based on their location. Utilizing this attribute is necessary if you're running a multilingual website and would like to help users from other countries find your content in the language that is most appropriate for them.

It is very important to make sure your hreflang links always refer to absolute URLs with HTTP 200 status codes, otherwise search engines will not be able to interpret them correctly and, as a result, will not show the correct language version of your pages to the relevant audience.

For more information, please see these articles: Tell Google about localized versions of your page, How to Do International SEO with Semrush and Hreflang Attribute 101

How to fix:

To avoid any problems with hreflang links, we recommend that you review your hreflang attributes and do the following:

- Fix broken hreflang URLs
- Fix hreflang redirects
- Replace relative URLs with absolute ones

Errors	Amount
2 pages returned 4XX status code	2
About this issue:	0
A 4xx error means that a webpage cannot be accessed. This is usually the result of broken links. These errors prevent users and search engine robots from accessing your webpages, and can negatively affect both user experience and search engine crawlability. This will in turn lead to a drop in traffic driven to your website. Please be aware that crawler may detect a working link as broken if your website blocks our crawler from accessing it. This usually happens due to the following reasons: - DDoS protection system - Overloaded or misconfigured server
How to fix:
If a webpage returns an error, remove all links leading to the error page or replace it with another resource. To identify all pages on your website that contain links to a 4xx page, click "View broken links" next to the error page. If the links reported as 4xx do work when accessed with a browser, you can try either of the following: - Contact your web hosting support team - Instruct search engine robots not to crawl your website too frequently by specifying the "crawl-delay" directive in your robots.txt
1 issue with incorrect certificate name	1
About this issue:	0
If the domain or subdomain name to which your SSL certificate is registered doesn't match the name displayed in the address bar, web browsers will block users from visiting your website by showing them a name mismatch error, and this will in turn negatively affect your organic search traffic.
How to fix:
Contact your website administrator and ask them to install the correct certificate. Since subdomains also require their own certificates, you can use a wildcard or multi-domain SSL certificate that allows you to secure multiple subdomains.

Errors	Amount
1 structured data item is invalid About this issue: This issue is triggered if structured data items contain fields that do not meet Google's guidelines . Implementing and maintaining your structured data correctly is important if you want to get an edge over your competitors in search results. If your website markup has errors, crawlers will not be able to properly understand it, and you may run the risk of losing the chance of gaining rich snippets and getting more favorable rankings. For more information on the structured data requirements, see schema.org , Google documentation , or our article . How to fix: Check structured data on your webpages with a validation tool. Please note that different markup testing tools may show different results. We recommend that you use the Rich Results Test tool to review and validate your pages' structured data against their rich snippet requirements.	1 0

11 external links are broken

About this issue:

Broken external links lead users from one website to another and bring them to non-existent webpages. Multiple broken links negatively affect user experience and may worsen your search engine rankings because crawlers may think that your website is poorly maintained or coded.

Please note that our crawler may detect a working link as broken. Generally, this happens if the server hosting the website you're referring to blocks our crawler from accessing this website.

How to fix:

Please follow all links reported as broken. If a target webpage returns an error, remove the link leading to the error page or replace it with another resource.

If the links reported as broken do work when accessed with a browser, you should contact the website's owner and inform them about the issue.

11 pages have low text-HTML ratio

11

About this issue:

Your text to HTML ratio indicates the amount of actual text you have on your webpage compared to the amount of code. This issue is triggered when your text to HTML is 10% or less.

Search engines have begun focusing on pages that contain more content. That's why a higher text to HTML ratio means your page has a better chance of getting a good position in search results.

Less code increases your page's load speed and also helps your rankings. It also helps search engine robots crawl your website faster.

How to fix:

Split your webpage's text content and code into separate files and compare their size. If the size of your code file exceeds the size of the text file, review your page's HTML code and consider optimizing its structure and removing embedded scripts and styles.

Warnings	Amount
3 pages have a low word count About this issue: This issue is triggered if the number of words on your webpage is less than 200. The amount of text placed on your webpage is a quality signal to search engines. Search engines prefer to provide as much information to users as possible, so pages with longer content tend to be placed higher in search results, as opposed to those with lower word counts. For more information, please view this video How to fix: Improve your on-page content and be sure to include more than 200 meaningful words.	3
Sitemap.xml not found About this issue: A sitemap.xml file is used to list all URLs available for crawling. It can also include additional data about each URL. Using a sitemap.xml file is quite beneficial. Not only does it provide easier navigation and better visibility to search engines, it also quickly informs search engines about any new or updated content on your website. Therefore, your website will be crawled faster and more intelligently. How to fix: Consider generating a sitemap.xml file if you don't already have one. Then you should specify the location of your sitemap.xml files in your robots.txt, and check if Googlebot can index your sitemap.xml file with the Sitemaps report in Google Search Console	1
1 subdomain doesn't support SNI About this issue: One of the common issues you may face when using HTTPS is when your web server doesn't support Server Name Indication (SNI). Using SNI allows you to support multiple servers and host multiple certificates at the same IP address, which may improve security and trust. How to fix: Make sure that you web server supports SNI. Keep in mind that SNI is not supported by some older browsers, which is why you need to ensure that your audience uses browsers supporting SNI.	1

lms.txt not found About this issue: The lms.txt file helps AI search engines better understand your website's content by providing LLM-friendly information. This file offers a short summary, guidance, and links to other useful resources. How to fix: • Create an lms.txt file. • Place it in your website's root directory and ensure the file is accessible. • Refer to lms.txt.org for examples and tips on how to properly create and manage it.	1 0
Robots.txt not found About this issue: A robots.txt file has an important impact on your overall SEO website's performance. This file helps search engines determine what content on your website they should crawl. Utilizing a robots.txt file can cut the time search engine robots spend crawling and indexing your website. For more information, please see this Google article How to fix: If you don't want specific content on your website to be crawled, creating a robots.txt file is recommended. 4xx errors

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

A 4xx error means that a webpage cannot be accessed. This is usually the result of broken links. These errors prevent users and search engine robots from accessing your webpages, and can negatively affect both user experience and search engine crawlability. This will in turn lead to a drop in traffic driven to your website. Please be aware that crawler may detect a working link as broken if your website blocks our crawler from accessing it. This usually happens due to the following reasons:

- DDoS protection system

- Overloaded or misconfigured server

How to fix:

If a webpage returns an error, remove all links leading to the error page or replace it with another resource.

To identify all pages on your website that contain links to a 4xx page, click "View broken links" next to the error page.

If the links reported as 4xx do work when accessed with a browser, you can try either of the following:

- Contact your web hosting support team
- Instruct search engine robots not to crawl your website too frequently by specifying the "crawl-delay" directive in your robots.txt

Invalid structured data items

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

This issue is triggered if structured data items contain fields that do not meet Google's guidelines.

Implementing and maintaining your structured data correctly is important if you want to get an edge over your competitors in search results.

If your website markup has errors, crawlers will not be able to properly understand it, and you may run the risk of losing the chance of gaining rich snippets and getting more favorable rankings.

For more information on the structured data requirements, see schema.org, Google documentation, or our article.

How to fix:

Check structured data on your webpages with a validation tool. Please note that different markup testing tools may show different results.

We recommend that you use the Rich Results Test tool to review and validate your pages' structured data against their rich snippet requirements.

Certificate registered to incorrect name

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

If the domain or subdomain name to which your SSL certificate is registered doesn't match the name displayed in the address bar, web browsers will block users from visiting your website by showing them a name mismatch error, and this will in turn negatively affect your organic search traffic.

How to fix:

Contact your website administrator and ask them to install the correct certificate.

Since subdomains also require their own certificates, you can use a wildcard or multi-domain SSL certificate that allows you to secure multiple subdomains.

Detailed Issue: Warnings

Detailed Warnings

Low text to HTML ratio

Project name: ruqya-center-v2.vercel.app

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Your text to HTML ratio indicates the amount of actual text you have on your webpage compared to the amount of code. This issue is triggered when your text to HTML is 10% or less.

Search engines have begun focusing on pages that contain more content. That's why a higher text to HTML ratio means your page has a better chance of getting a good position in search results.

Less code increases your page's load speed and also helps your rankings. It also helps search engine robots crawl your website faster.

How to fix:

Split your webpage's text content and code into separate files and compare their size. If the size of your code file exceeds the size of the text file, review your page's HTML code and consider optimizing its structure and removing embedded scripts and styles.

Low word count

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

This issue is triggered if the number of words on your webpage is less than 200.

The amount of text placed on your webpage is a quality signal to search engines.

Search engines prefer to provide as much information to users as possible, so pages with longer content tend to be placed higher in search results, as opposed to those with lower word counts.

For more information, please view this video

How to fix:

Improve your on-page content and be sure to include more than 200 meaningful words.

Broken external links

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

Broken external links lead users from one website to another and bring them to non-existent webpages. Multiple broken links negatively affect user experience and may worsen your search engine rankings because crawlers may think that your website is poorly maintained or coded.

Please note that our crawler may detect a working link as broken. Generally, this happens if the server hosting the website you're referring to blocks our crawler from accessing this website.

How to fix:

Please follow all links reported as broken. If a target webpage returns an error, remove the link leading to the error page or replace it with another resource.

If the links reported as broken do work when accessed with a browser, you should contact the website's owner and inform them about the issue.

Sitemap.xml not found

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

A sitemap.xml file is used to list all URLs available for crawling. It can also include additional data about each URL.

Using a sitemap.xml file is quite beneficial. Not only does it provide easier navigation and better visibility to search engines, it also quickly informs search engines about any new or updated content on your website. Therefore, your website will be crawled faster and more intelligently.

How to fix:

Consider generating a sitemap.xml file if you don't already have one.

Then you should specify the location of your sitemap.xml files in your robots.txt, and check if Googlebot can index your sitemap.xml file with the Sitemaps report in Google Search Console

No SNI support

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

One of the common issues you may face when using HTTPS is when your web server doesn't support Server Name Indication (SNI). Using SNI allows you to support multiple servers and host multiple certificates at the same IP address, which may improve security and trust.

How to fix:

Make sure that you web server supports SNI. Keep in mind that SNI is not supported by some older browsers, which is why you need to ensure that your audience uses browsers supporting SNI.

Robots.txt not found

Detailed Issue Description

About this issue:

A robots.txt file has an important impact on your overall SEO website's performance. This file helps search engines determine what content on your website they should crawl.

Utilizing a robots.txt file can cut the time search engine robots spend crawling and indexing your website. For more information, please see this Google article

How to fix:

If you don't want specific content on your website to be crawled, creating a robots.txt file is recommended. To check your robots.txt file, use Google's robots.txt Tester in Google Search Console
